In the shadows of the first resignation by the President of the United States in the nearly 200 year history of the country, students came to Davidson in September 1974 — the 138th year of the College. For the most part, the events of the year were the same as any other year with no great issues or confrontations arising. However, issues and events are only the catalysts. The reacting ingredients for each year at Davidson are the 1200 students whose particular abilities (or lack thereof) set the year apart from any other. Never again will the same set of students be assembled in a similar situation.

The buildings remain basically the same. The professors and staff have some turnover but maintain a consistency. The courses rarely undergo major reordering. But the students — what they do with the nine months between September and May is what makes a year different, exciting, dull, entertaining, enjoyable, or listless . . . and most of all, unique.

Consequently, the events following will sound familiar: orientation, homecoming, exams, football and basketball, artist series, more exams, mid-winters, baseball, spring frolics, exams, commencement. But watch for the interpretation. It is clearly mid '70's — a product of the classes of '75-'78 at Davidson College. The 1975 Quips and Cranks is dedicated to recording this unique year.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE 1974-1975

Something always seems to be in the air at Davidson in September. Something new, different and exciting. Perhaps it's only the pollen. More hopefully, it's a renewed spirit after a refreshing summer.

Whatever it is, it was again present when the new crop of freshmen and returning upperclassmen arrived for the opening of College. Lofts went up, freshman hall regatta rafts went down, old friendships were renewed, new friendships were made, and suddenly, classes began.

For whatever reason, an energetic optimism pervaded the campus, though one student observed, "We're a motley collection of warmed-over '50's scholarship athletes, burned out '60's activists, and studious, conservative pre-professionals of the '70's, among other things." The activists grabbed most of the headlines away from the athletes and the scholars during the fall quarter.

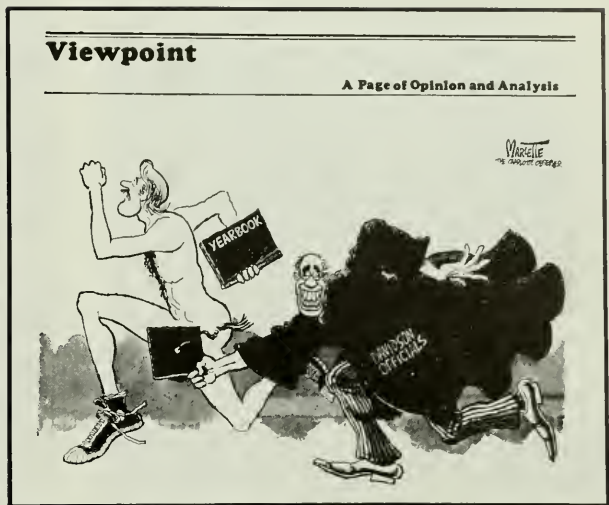

Ralph Nader visited the campus as a Reynolds lecturer. The noted consumer advocate questioned distinctions between corporate and public interests, urging greater scrutiny of the government and business powers by the silent majority. Frederick Storaseka's "How to Say No to a Rapist," Viveca Lindfors' performance of "I Am a Woman," Jerry Rockwood's characterization of Edgar Allen Poe, and Bob Katz's presentation, "Who Killed JFK?" offered stimulating diversions to fall quarter's studies.

A Nader-style uproar with a Ziggy-type outcome arose over the censorship of the 1973-74 edition of QUIPS AND CRANKS. When the distribution of the annual was delayed by an administrative decision without consultation with the student editor because of the proposed publication of "questionable material" (two full-length frontal pictures of male streakers and some locker-room jargon), SGA leaders and publication editors came together in protest of the denial of due process. The administration prevailed over both student threats of court action and an SGA Senate resolution demanding that publication of QUIPS AND CRANKS be returned to the student editor. The annual was finally distributed with the streakers belled and minus a "u," 2 "l's," an "h," an "i," and a "t," and without another "u," a "c," and a "k." As the Davidsonian reported, "All the nudes that's fit to sprint" is all a matter of coverage.

TRANSITION . . . Owens College Union to E.H. Little Library

It had taken three years, but suddenly, it seemed to be completed. When the class of '75 arrived as freshmen in 1971, they saw only a hole in the ground on an empty lot. Beam by beam, brick by brick, the building grew as the class waited patiently.

And then, following a rush job of getting the planters in shape, it was ready. To the delight of all, the major event of the year, the dedication of the vast, impressive, E. H. Little Library, came about on schedule. Parents and other distinguished visitors joined students, faculty and staff on campus for the September dedication. Even Mr. E. H. himself was on hand to plaster a dab of mortar around the corner stone.

The rats loved it, the profs appreciated it, and even the seniors thought it was nice. It was cool, bright, carpeted, and friendly inside. But the architect hadn't provided the dark nooks so affectionately remembered in the old library. There was an uneasy feeling without the privacy of the Russian Novel section where the "scholarly" used to drink wine all night long. They had to learn to study and party in the open.

Dedication — September 27, 1974

There were five big water fights in the first month complete with casualties, but soon the energy turned to more constructive pursuits, like studying, with a mild sort of activism on the side. The activism started with Steve Canterbury and a wash-bored band of indigents protesting the mandatory laundry fee. The laundry took the protest to heart and cooperated, promising a new, improved, cleaner, brighter, whiter wash, safe even for delicate and fine fabrics — like denim. The fee, of course, remained as permanent as the wrinkles in our permanent press. Good try anyway.

Mark Wilensky's DAVIDSONIAN'S story about College-owned sub-standard housing shocked some, outraged others, and caused much talk. "Copperheads, rats, cockroaches, broken windows, peeling paint and broken doors are the identification marks of the College-owned homes in black Davidson," Wilensky reported. The College relocated several of the tenants and razed or repaired some buildings, but the larger issue of establishing low-cost, low-rent housing in Davidson received painstakingly little attention and less immediate action from town hall as well as little follow-up from anyone, including the original protestors. Concern mingled with frustration.

Another controversy arose with the attempt to put a card-lock system on Watts. The girls claimed they could lock their own doors. But the entire controversy came to a halt when a nocturnal expeditionary force from Richardson Dormitory stole the locks.

Midway in the term, the pressures were put aside for Homecoming, the first major social weekend of the fall. The Alumni Office sponsored a "Country Fair" on the practice football field, complete with games of skill and chance, square dancing, clowns, fortune tellers, et al.

Meanwhile, at the library the exterior book drop was being dedicated in memory of "Bill Edwards" who, as it turned out, was a fictitious alumnus created by an imaginative class secretary who figured his classmates weren't reading their class notes very closely. Eulogies over the departed were waxed eloquently as champagne flowed and Cripple Creek, an alumni blue grass band, picked "Amazing Grace." As the NEW YORK TIMES reported the event, "College officials were somewhat upset when they first learned of the hoax; but when it was pointed out that the Class' 20th reunion memorial gift had been in excess of $20,000, it was decided to let the situation rest in peace." Actually, "College officials" had helped plan the dedication, but who bothers to correct the TIMES.

At half-time of the football game, Ann Bode, a Davidson junior representing Fannie and Mable's, and Anne Adkerson, a University of Georgia junior representing Phi Delta Theta, shared honors as Co-Homecoming Queens.

Football season came and sort of passed by. The team didn't exactly set the woods on fire. Though they choked twice and played fine ball in five losing efforts, they did pull off two victories. The Homecoming win over Hampden-Sydney lifted the spirits for the fall quarter "Big Weekend." The new acoustics in Johnston Gym were tested with concerts by Kansas and Larry Coryell. The hard-rock playing of Kansas seemed a few thousand decibels too loud in the gym, but those who had mistakenly gone to Love Auditorium for the concert found the volume about right over there. Coryell's jazz rock group, featuring on drums and percussion the loose-necked, taut-fingered Alphonse, gave a fine performance; but again the acoustics were a little disconcerting.

A few weeks later, the student drama production of "Servant of Two Masters" in Hodson Hall was a little gentler on the ears as well as quite delightful to the eyes.

Time begins to drag toward the end of a term. Halloween came and went, and the trees on campus were rolled (very pretty for a day or so). Flickerball champions were determined as the cross country team ran up a winning season record.

The campus looked like an artist's pallet when fall washed the maples, oaks and elms with brilliant reds, fiery oranges, and mellow yellows. All too soon, however, the colors faded and the leaves fell. Fall term ended as suddenly as it began. Students went home for Thanksgiving and returned to find winter.

The future looked rosy. Gary Pomeroy and Joe Duncan had set national and school records in football, trees without leaves didn't look all that bad, Christmas was only three weeks away, it looked like it might snow, and best of all . . . basketball.

Roundball-and-hoop time was here, and the spirit was back. An enthusiastic crowd went wild as the 'Cats won their first two games. Even Johnston Gym was sporting a new tartan surface. A promising new coach and a returning experienced club had us on the edge of our seats.

When the dust settled on a 7-19 record, there was a rather let down feeling. But time does heal all wounds, and within a few weeks one could hear, "Can't win 'em all, I guess," and "There's always next year."

In mid-January, or was it February, it finally snowed. Wasn't much, but it made going to the P.O. a pleasure, even knowing there was nothing there. Some people went seven or eight times that day!

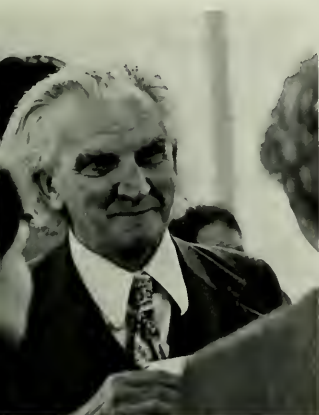

Special entertainment needs during the Winter Term were met by Midwinters, the Artist Series, and the drama department. Lori Jacobs opened Midwinters with her acoustic guitar and folk-rock-vocals in a Friday night concert. Saturday evening, the late-arriving Two Generations of Brubeck (below) met an enthusiastic audience of West coast jazz fans. The old man took the stage alone to open the act with two piano solos while the stage crew and the Younger Generation moved the rest of the band's equipment on stage. From the first few chords of Dave Brubeck's solo, the audience was his. "Take Five" and "Blue Rondo à la Turk" drew standing ovations along with an appreciative round of applause for a clarinet from a frizzy-haired member of the Younger Generation.

Other winter quarter music included the jazz flute of Tim Weisberg and the electronic music of Morton Subotnik's moog synthesizer. William Windom (above left) presented a characterization of James Thurber and stayed at Davidson to enjoy whipping freshmen on the tennis courts or at their chess boards. The Davidson Drama Department presented ROSENCRANTZ AND GUILDENSTERN ARE DEAD, a rollicking comedy based on two minor characters from Shakespeare's HAMLET, with the election lights cast on Graham Smith (above right) who played Guildenstern after two nights' notice. Hal McCoy, scheduled to play the part, dropped out on the day before the opening to nurse a case of hepatitis.

Several prominent speakers visited the campus during the winter. Kenneth Boulding (below), the director of research on General and Economic Dynamics at the Institute of Behavioral Science, drew a large audience to hear about modern economic problems.

Fred Harris (left), candidate for the Democratic party presidential nomination, spent a week guffawing, slapping his side, shaking hands, and giving coffee table previews of his populism while his wife Ladonna brought campus attention to the rights of the American Indian.

Then the campus became quiet. Bare trees, dead grass, blustering winds, grey skies, all added to the winter doldrums and thoughts of transfers. Even in the gym, only the occasional tap of a roundball in the finals of an intramural basketball game could be heard.

Exams came; and quickly as possible, they went. Students scattered, many to the South to see if the sun still did shine, others to extern programs with the hopes of getting a taste of some life-work possibilities and others just to a quiet place to lick the wounds inflicted by Winter Term.

When they returned, it was spring. And things always happen at Davidson in the spring. Speakers included Otts lecturer Robert McAfee Brown (above) on "Theology as Narrative," Piedmont Lecturer Francis L.K. Hsy on "Understanding China and the U.S.," and John Marks on "The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence." Especially notable was Leon Jaworski (below), special Watergate prosecutor who delivered the major address at Spring Convocation and received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Two major dramas highlighted the spring. An artistic troupe presented THE RIVER NIGER, winner of the 1974 Tony Award for Best Play, recreating the comic but dramatic story of a modern black family in Harlem. Not to be outdone, the Davidson drama department presented ANYTHING GOES (below right), a Cole Porter musical comedy. This great experiment, carried off to near perfection, brought back the song, tap dance, madcap gangsters and giggly chorines that was truly delightful, delicious ... even delovely.

The Fourth Annual Davidson National Print and Drawing show brought to campus representation of the finest graphic works currently being produced in the U.S. Generally acclaimed by artists across the country as the best of its kind in the U. S., the 161 piece show, featuring purchase award winners such as Gordon Mortenson's "Late Afternoon" (bottom right), focused a national fine art spotlight on the campus for six weeks during the spring.

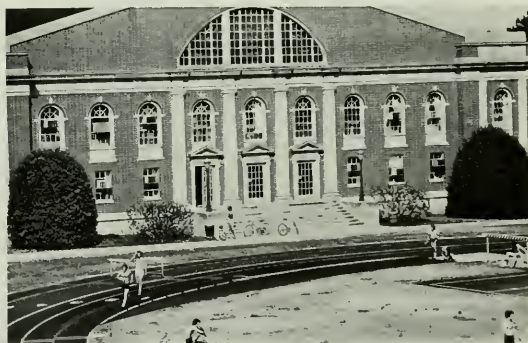

Simultaneous with spring leaves came several campus issues. Students fared very well this time. Slight modifications were made in PE department requirements so that it was much easier and more enjoyable to get one's body in good enough shape to face the world. The psychological counseling service expanded from four to five days a week to handle the cares of the rising cases of battle fatigue. ARA Slater agreed to adopt a new meal ticket plan to take into account appetite size. Finally, the College's proposal to play post office was rejected, much to the pleasure of the student body and the Davidson postmaster.

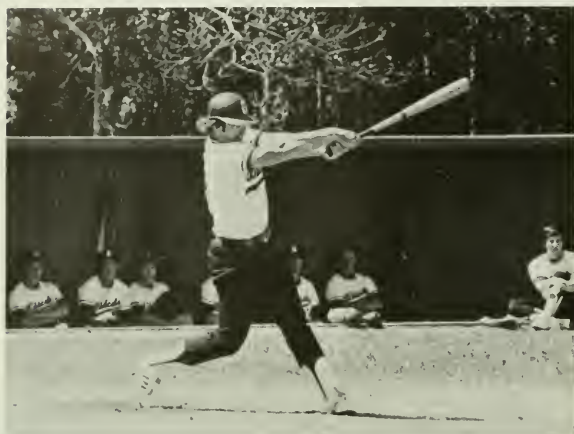

Spring Frolics was highlighted with a mellow concert by Don McLean and a spacy performance from Richie Havens, not to mention the annual beer bash on Saturday afternoon at the baseball field.

A few weeks later at Alumni Weekend, the alumni "roasted" the "Moses" (having gotten the children into the promised building) of the E.H. Little "Temple of Learning," Chalmers Gaston Davidson, esquire. Musical highlight of the weekend was provided at the post-roast alumni-student dance, featuring the big-band sound of Deez Boys Band, an all-student group under the baton of junior Dea Booth.

The Goals Committee met and determined a theme for the college in setting and meeting goals for Davidson's development during the next twelve years. The committee emphasized the need for more endowment for faculty salaries and student scholarships, the need for funds for special academic facilities, and the need to improve eating and housing facilities for students. A recommendation to set up a permanent committee of this sort was left in limbo.

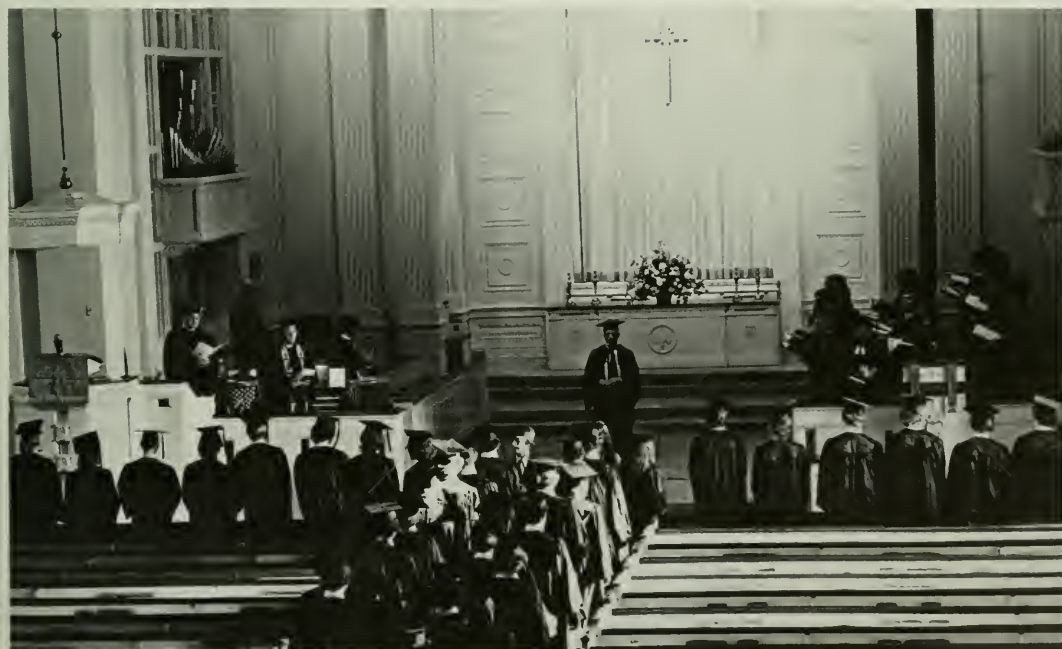

The sports scene was ablaze during the spring. The Wildcat baseball team won an unprecedented 21 games, posting its first winning season since the early sixties. Leading the team was George Weicker, who ended the season with the NCAA's second highest batting average. The greatest moment of the season came when the Cats defeated second-ranked South Carolina 4-3 at Columbia. And in basketball, an impressive list of six top recruits kindled hope for a revival of Davidson's lost roundball prestige.

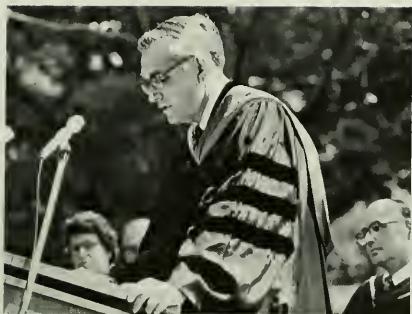

IN MEMORIAM
"HATTIES"
19??-1975

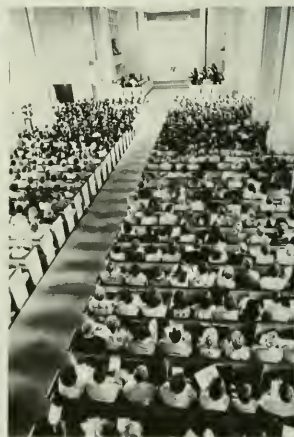

Other things were kindled as well. Hattie's Bar and Grill, a Thursday night institution for the county-line-crossing beer guzzlers for many Davidson generations, was gutted by two blazes on the Sunday of Spring Frolics weekend. Smoke mingled with tears for even though all the Iredell County fire departments were called in to help prevent total disaster, help came too late; and a legend literally went up in smoke. Fortunately, the Peregrine House responded to the campus-wide needs of the student body with Terry and Cindy instituting their own Thursday night happy hour — and a new Davidson tradition joined F.A.C. in providing an early evening diversion to books and studies.

Spring rushed by too fast. Summer was in sight, and one might see a freshman looking very proud of herself because she had just gotten a promotion to sophomore. One might also see a senior looking sort of sad as he realized he was leaving the friends he had lived with for four years.

And so the year ended. But a year is only pieces—pieces of moments here and there that find real meaning within the individual. The important thing is that the moments do have meaning, and always will. In this book, one may see a picture or read a phrase, relive a moment and catch a meaning. Time goes on, the years pile up, and the past fades even faster. But every now and then, if we are fortunate, a flash of the past will enliven our present and illuminate our future.

A "Flash of the Past" . . . September 18, 1971

HONORARIES

PHI BETA KAPPA

As the hallmark of academic achievement, Phi Beta Kappa is perhaps the most significant honor that can be bestowed on a student at Davidson. The first chapter, Alpha of Virginia, was organized at the College of William & Mary on December 5, 1776, as a social fraternity and was the first society to have a Greek letter name. The society evolved to its present honorary status, removing the requirement of secrecy in 1831 and admitting women in the 1870's. The Davidson chapter was established in 1923.

The golden key of Phi Beta Kappa symbolizes the scholastic excellence of those who play the role of student most successfully, of those who exploit to the fullest the intellectual development of the experience called college.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership society, emphasizes three principles: to recognize persons who have exhibited unusual ability and leadership in college activities, to bring together these leaders into a body which will help mold the sentiments of the institution, and to enclose members of the faculty, staff and student body on the basis of mutual interest and understanding.

Delta Circle of this society was formed at Davidson in 1917, three years after the society was founded at Washington & Lee University.

The Society selects persons from the junior and senior classes, faculty and staff who have exhibited character, leadership and service in campus life, scholarship, and consecration to democratic ideals.

PHILANTHROPIC LITERARY SOCIETY

THE SOCIETIES

TRADITION IS A FINE AND LOVELY THING; IN THESE HALLS WE STRAIN TO HEAR ITS HOLLOW ECHOES RING. These two societies traditionally have held that it is a beautiful thing to cultivate the mind, and so their members guess it is. But they know in their inner hearts that in this winter of discontent, or in any future winter, spring is far behind — in fact, so far that it may never come. Time has not been kind to Phi and Eu.

The spring of 1837 was green and alive as the College took root and the two societies were born, Eu preceding Phi by two months. An absence of wine, women, cars and television was just what was needed to nourish the art of debating. Summer brought days of free verse and sharp wit. Activity and interest demanded two meetings a week in 1897 — “Saturday night being devoted to debating and Monday morning to orations, essays, and declamations” boasts QUIPS AND CRANKS II. However, the fall of the societies came with the 20th Century when men went to war, shrank the world, and became too busy to stir up a good debate. Now it is winter — and spring seems to be an unrealistic hope. But the age of the Bicentennial may provide a means of rejuvenation for the daughters of the quadrangle as man finds nothing better to do with his spare twenty-one hours a day than “cultivate his mind.”

ATHLETICS

WILDCAT ATHLETICS '74-'75

In the past, many footballers have trod across the tartan turf, some leaving with greater success, but either side came and went enjoying the game. At Davidson, it is no different, particularly with the arrival of new faces and the healthy excitement of coach Chip Stone.

Although the record was not overwhelmingly impressive, the individuals who played were, indeed, impressive. Charlie Slagle, Tom Blackwood, Joe Duncan, newcomers like Dave Patten, D.C. Augustine and Chuck Fiden . . . The fans were tremendous, and that season was an unforgettable experience.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Cross Country team had its best year in recent memory, posting a 9-3 record in dual meet competition; the losses were all to heavily subsidized teams. Sophomore Coty Pinckney ran out front for the Cats, at one point winning eight consecutive meets. Seniors Ricky Bell, Bob Lautensack, and Lube Deal ran consistently strong races, while juniors Bill Cole and Jeff Neikirk rounded out the "faithful six." Freshman Bill McClement also had a good year, often running second for the team. The record of 9-3 pays quite a tribute to Coach Sterling Martin, whose first team five years ago went 1-14.

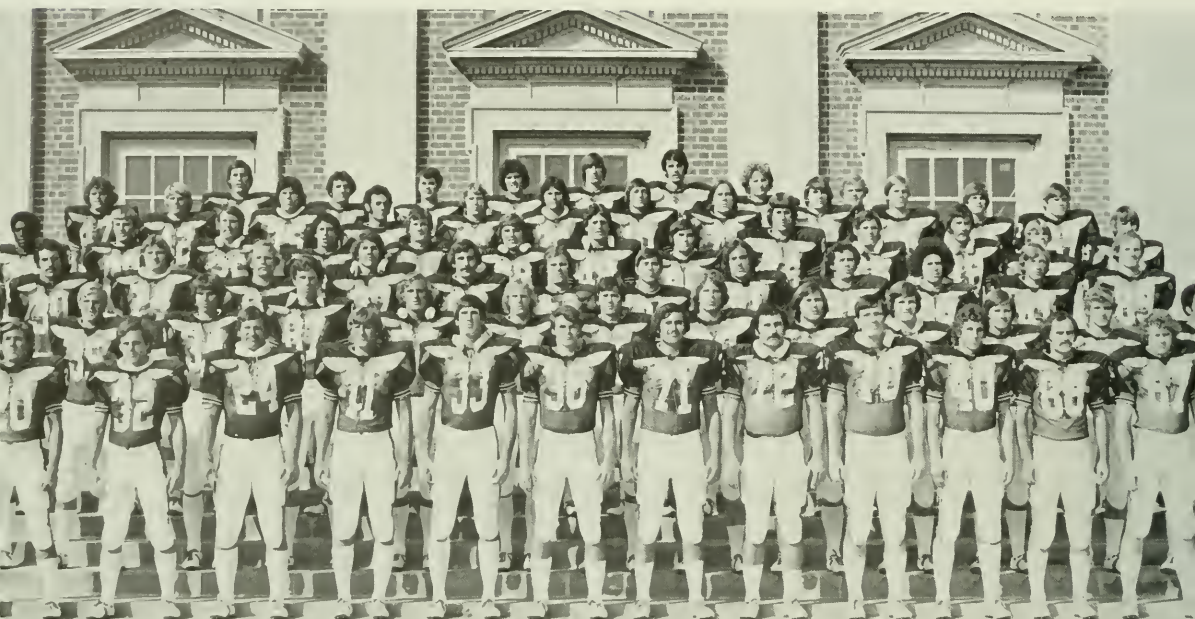

"Do?" . . . "What's Lube doing out there?" . . . "Go up this hill the first mile-and-a-half . . ." "Could you please show me the cross country course?" . . . "Monday I touched her on . . ." "What's that squirrel-noise?" . . . "They're dropping like flies!" . . . "Don't worry, I've got him." . . . "I couldn't run for a coach like that" . . . Davidson 22, Citadel 37 . . . "If your daddy's in the Navy and . . ." Buies Creek on a Friday night . . . "Wow, look at those things!" . . . "Oh, Katharine, you're beautiful!" . . . 32:00 . . . Do!!

A NEW ERA

The Davidson fans welcomed the 1974 football season with blind optimism, stemming from many factors, the most publicized being the institution of a new coaching staff. The previous fall had provided an exciting team but one which consistently came up short on the scoreboard. This was to be the year. With many of the prominent stars returning and the fresh enthusiasm generated by Coach Farrell and his assistants, the Wildcat supporters were ready for "good" times. After ten Saturdays had elapsed and the team had managed but two wins in nine contests, a slow melancholy had returned to tag "the same old Davidson."

Only the most knowledgeable of fans could recognize at the outset of the season that 1974 would be a rebuilding year. All competitive football teams are built from the ground up, and what Davidson needed was a solid foundation. The new coaching staff instituted a rebuilding program which would provide a final product of winning after long hours of dedicated toil. The coaches began to ingrain new concepts, attitudes, and philosophies . . . all directed at developing a winning tradition. Because so much time and effort was dedicated to emphasizing the necessary mental approach, Saturday afternoons were often exercises in frustration . . . but not pessimism. Although absorbing several overwhelming defeats, the Wildcats were optimistic that they were founding a new era of Davidson football.

With the elimination of outright scholarship grants after the 1973 season, the football program was tabbed as having been de-emphasized. Economically, de-emphasis served as a proper definition. But this more realistic approach had not lessened the quality of player that chose Davidson nor reduced the intensity and dedication within the program. The new era and acute challenge of the situation called for an even greater commitment from the players, personally and as a group.

The 1974 Wildcats won only two games by a total of nine points. The Cats slipped by Hampden-Sydney, 17-16, to highlight a campus homecoming celebration. Later in the season Defiance of Ohio fell at Richardson Field, 28-20. Senior leaders on offense were David Harper, Gary Pomeroy, and Jim Kleinfelter. The defensive unit was led by seniors George Weicker, Eddie Womack, and Tom Fleischer.

CATTES IMPRESSIVE IN SECOND SEASON

The women's basketball team highlighted the winter sports scene at Davidson as they scrapped to earn a 10-7 record. Coaches Joe Duncan, Charlie Slagle, and Ken Schmader molded the second-year team to defeat such established teams as Catawba, N. C. State, Augusta, and Wake Forest. The season was climaxed with the Cattes' participation in the State "B" tournament at Wilmington, in which they advanced to the semi-final round before losing to Catawba. Donna Sherrill was voted MVP by her teammates as she led the team in scoring with 15.1 points per game. Also earning special recognition were Katherine Morton (high rebounder), Renee Soos (best free-throw percentage), Beth Tanner (best defensive player) and Nora McNeill (most improved). Assisting the team were managers Pat McLeod and Leslie Jacobs as well as scorekeepers Laurie Dunn, Eddie Womack, and Matt Horne.

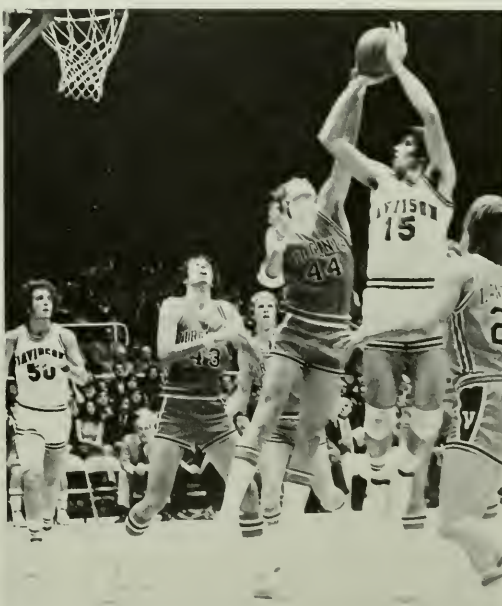

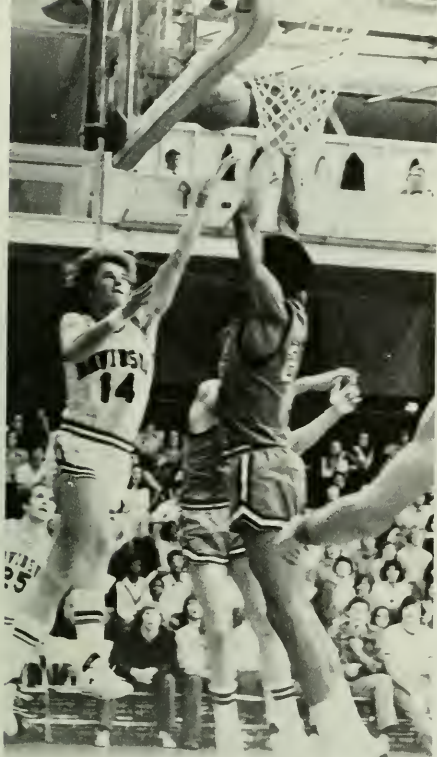

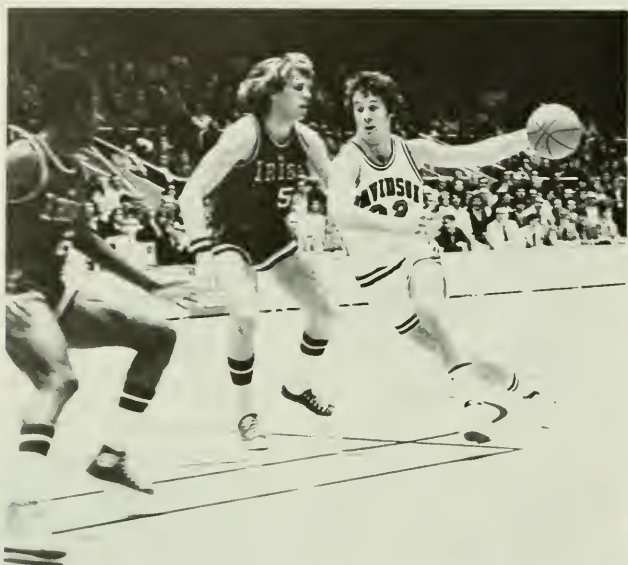

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The Davidson College Wildcats entered the 1974-75 basketball season with high hopes under the helm of new head coach Bo Bricksels, a former assistant who took over when Terry Holland departed to the University of Virginia. Among those returning to the 'Cats fold were Greg Dunn (all Southern Conference), Larry Horowitz (honorable mention all S. C.), Sheldon Parker, Jay Powell, and Eppa Rixey, all of whom started or played regularly the year before. Other returnees included Steve Gadaire, Jim Lowry, and Tom Verlin, along with new hopefuls Kevin Doherty and Marvin Lively.

Hopes were still optimistic, even after an opening game 74-69 squeaker over Wofford, when the 'Cats registered a come-from-behind 88-80 win over Ohio State. Then, with 6 of their next 7 games on the road against the likes of defending N.C.A.A. champion N. C. State, former champion and champion-to-be U.C.L.A., and N.I.T. champion-to-be Princeton, the 'Cats began to falter. In light of this, the team went into an eight-game tailspin.

They never really recovered after that, registering only five more victories along the remainder of the season: St. John's 81-77, The Citadel 90-76, Richmond 103-79, V.M.I. 94-93 (O.T.), and Appalachian State 99-89. Also included on the schedule, one of the nation's toughest, were Cincinnati, Duke, Notre Dame, South Carolina, Virginia, Wake Forest, and West Virginia. Davidson ended the regular season with a 7-18 record and a fifth place Southern Conference finish. A 78-64 tournament loss to William and Mary ended a frustrating year, Davidson's first losing season since 1961-62.

Two highlights of the year were when Dunn and Horowitz reached their 1,000 career point totals, both coming in winning efforts and against formidable opponents: Dunn scoring 22 points in the Ohio State game and Horowitz scoring 32 against a tough St. John's team, recording the highest individual point total of the year for a Wildcat. Probably the most thrilling game of the year was Davidson's 94-93 overtime victory over V.M.I. with Dunn scoring the winning basket with 11 seconds remaining off of an assist from Lively.

The wrestling team struggled to a 3-6 record during Charlie Parker's 38th season as coach. With only one senior on the team, the grapplers were hampered by youth and inexperience. Victories came over Livingstone College, University of South Carolina and Lynchburg Baptist College.

A poor season was nevertheless highlighted by strong individual performances, both in dual meets and tournaments. Senior Captain Rob Jacobs showed the most consistency throughout the season. He finished second in the Catawba Tournament and then placed an impressive third in the Southern Conference. Sophomore Mark Scandling was the 150 lb. champion in the Catawba Tournament and ended the season with a 7-2 record.

RIFLE TEAM

The Davidson College Rifle Team had its best season ever this past year. Under the coaching of Abel White, the team posted a 7-3 record. Wins were over teams from North Carolina A & T, Furman, Richmond, Georgia Tech, and William and Mary. The team effort was led by seniors Pete Goodman, Dallas Kirkendol, Craig Crosswhite, and Bob Anders. Team captain Goodman's efforts were cited in PHI GAMMA DELTA journal and Anders was named team MVP. Final season ratings placed Davidson in the upper echelon of Southern Conference competition.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

CATTES EARN SCHOOL'S TOP WINNING PERCENTAGE

The Davidson women's tennis team enjoyed an extremely successful season as they posted an 11-3 record in their second season of competition. Coached by Pat Drake, the Cattes played schools throughout North and South Carolina, including Wake Forest, UNC, Furman, South Carolina, and Appalachian. Becca Stimson achieved a 10-2 record at first singles while Andrea Murphy had the top winning mark on the team at number six with only one loss in 12 matches. Sue McAvoy was voted Most Valuable Player by the team for her contributions at the number two position. Also receiving special recognition were senior manager Kimball Draper and senior Carol Goldsborough who organized the team in its first season.

YOUTHFUL CATS ACHIEVE WINNING MARK

The men's tennis team continued its winning ways in 1975 under the direction of Jeff Frank as the netters posted a 12-9 regular season record and placed third in the Southern Conference tournament. The team was led by the only graduating senior in the top six, Rick Quinby at number one singles and doubles. Quinby was voted the Most Valuable Player by his teammates and also received the Harry Fogleman Award decided on by Coach Frank. The only other senior on the team was Greg Dunn who specialized in doubles. Youth dominated the six-man single lineup as Chip Bondurant, Mike Barnhill, and Stewart Boswell held down the numbers two, four and five positions while junior John Mitchell and sophomore Steve Holman filled the number three and six slots. Boswell and Holman earned special recognition as they captured conference singles titles.

TRACK

Davidson's 3-5 track record represents a commendable performance considering losses were to highly subsidized teams like Richmond and Appalachian while schools more equal to Davidson in financial support such as High Point and Wake Forest were defeated.

The season was highlighted by team captain Mark Connors' 440 yard dash win in the Southern Conference Championships at Williamsburg, Va. In addition to Connors' school record time of 48.6, eight other school records were either tied or broken during the year. Woody Van Meter placed third in the pole vault at the conference meet, setting a new school mark in that event for the third time during the season. Other records were broken by Bob Lautensack in the 3000 meter steeplechase, Jeff Diller in the hammer throw, Eppa Rixey in the high jump, and Coty Pinckney in the three and six mile runs. Greg Love tied Ray Swetenburg's high hurdle mark of 14.2 seconds, while the mile relay team of Steve Justus, Dick Boehner, Mark Postove, and Connors equalled the school record set in 1969. John Stanfield also turned in consistent performances in the high jump and javelin, and was second only to Connors in point production for the season. Connors, who was a double winner three times during the year, won the William A. Merchant High Point Award, while Van Meter received the Fetzer Award for Excellence.

Ten members of the track team ended the year by running 254 miles in a 24 hour relay, setting a state record and raising $700 for community service projects.

SAILING

Although not overwhelmingly successful, the sailing team experienced a rich and exciting season. The team's two best finishes occurred at the Davidson Fall Invitational (4th out of 8) and at the Duke Spring Invitational (4th out of 9).

Team members included Dave Francis (commodore), Tommy Lee, Jim Stephenson, William A. Beasley, Esq.,

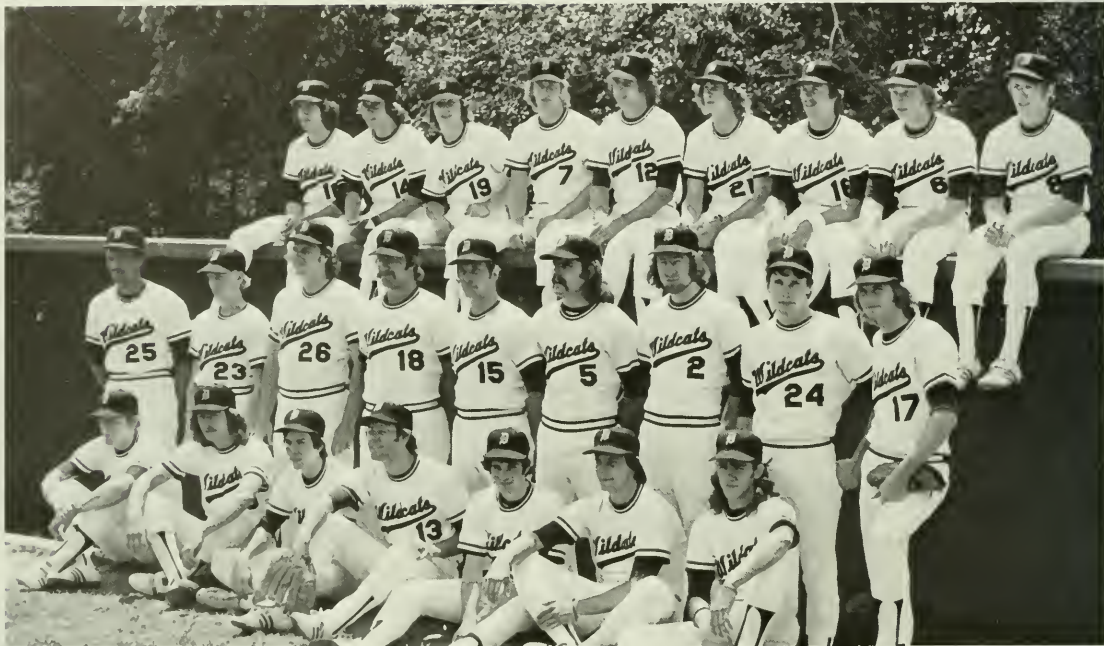

Stuart Campbell, Chuck Barrineau, Greg Eason, Hunter Jennings, Gil Cuthbertson, Faith Colson, Chip Swart, and Gunther Volk.

Members of the team wish to dedicate this page to the memory of Daryl Douglas, commodore for the '73-'74 sailing team.

BASEBALL

The 1975 season for the Davidson Wildcats was a year of "firsts": first 20-win season (21-15), first season with 10 conference victories, first All-American player, first black head coach.

First-year Coach Junior Wade took a group of talented individuals in early March and by the first of June he had molded these players into the well-drilled unit that finished the season second in the Southern Conference. Only two close losses to the Citadel prevented the Cats from taking the (Standing) Coach Wade, Dave Wiley, Dwight Plemmons, George Weicker, Joel Tew, Mark Rodgman, Joe Duncan, Tim Peck, Billy Lynn. conference title and entering post-season play.

The season began slowly as Davidson dropped its first four ball games, but the Cats bounced right back with 4 straight victories including a double-header sweep from East Carolina, the pre-season conference favorite. Confidence started building, and the Cats realized they were for real. As the baseballers rounded out the first half of the season, they put together a string of six consecutive victories with a heartbreaking loss to ACC foe Wake Forest (6-5) preventing that string from reaching nine straight.

The second half of the season was a copy of the season's beginning as the Cats lost four straight by 3 runs or less. In the twelve remaining games, Davidson won eight of those contests. And from these last dozen games came some of the season's fondest memories. If one game could be held up as the highlight of the year, it would have to be the Wildcats' stunning upset of South Carolina 4-3. South Carolina ended the year as the second-ranked team in the nation, losing the national championship to the University of Texas in the college World Series. The Cats put down the Gamecocks on their home field in Columbia, and it goes without saying that J. W. felt some pride in out-coaching the old pro Bobby Richardson, U.S.C. coach and former Yankee standout. Rather anti-climactic to the U.S.C. victory was an 8-7 loss to Guilford at the hands of the umpire who ejected the Davidson bench & proceeded to disqualify the Cats and called the game a forfeit in favor of the home team Guilford. The Wildcats polished off the season with four straight, including a sweep of V.M.I. during the Keydets big Spring Weekend.

Though the season was definitely a team effort, the accomplishments of several team members deserve special notice. The all-conference selections were released in June; and three Wildcats Joel Tew, Mark Rodgeman, and George Weicker made first-team honors. Tew posted an 8-4 record with an E.R.A. of 2.09 while completing 10 of his 11 starts. Joel was also the pitcher of record in the South Carolina victory. Mark Rodgeman, team captain for the second straight year, compiled a batting average of .367 with 44 hits. He was also acknowledged as the finest defensive catcher in the league and definitely in Davidson's baseball history.

The third member of our all-star trio compiled quite a list of accomplishments during the 1975 Campaign. George Weicker set new Davidson records this year in eight offensive categories including batting average (.452), home runs (10), doubles (10), hits (52), r.b.i.'s (44), total bases (94). All of these in a mere 36 games!!! Weicker's slugging percentage of .810 was tops in the nation, and his batting average was second in the country (missing the #1 spot by .0001 points!!!). George was Davidson's first baseball All-American, being selected to the first team, and he was soon signed by the Cincinnati Reds. He was likewise selected as the Southern Conference Player of the Year and also received the Thomas Sparrow Award, symbolic of Davidson's finest athlete and gentleman.

All in all, the 1975 season was by far the finest in Davidson history. The team was more than a collection of individuals; and next year's team will miss the spirit and play of seniors Weicker, Gary Pomeroy (2nd team all-conference as short-stop), Mark Rodgeman, Billy Lynn, Bill Todd, Dwight Plemmons, Joe Duncan, and Mitch Stone.

IMAC

In this pit of pits, this void in reality, this indescribably boring and dull place, there is for most students only one relief — IMAC.

Everyone plays IMAC. There is an IMAC team for every possible attitude towards competition. Want heavy competition? The SPE's. Want no competition? ATO. Want beer? Gozinya.

IMAC has everything in it. Competition between fraternities, untold numbers of independents with wierd and suggestive names and even some good play. In fact, lots of good play.

IMAC starts with flickerball, and the fraternities have dominated. As far as this reporter can remember, no independent has ever won IMAC flickerball. It seems that the organization and discipline needed for good flickerball is usually only found in the frats. 1974 was no exception as SAE, behind the fabled five-year man, Peyton "The P" Prospre, whipped KA to take the title.

Basketball, the number one IMAC sport, started off in December with a 3-on-3 tournament. The Gozinyas took it and were looked upon as favorite for the regular season crown. IMAC basketball has been dominated by the independents in recent years as the last IMAC basketball champ to be from a fraternity was the Delts in 1971. In 1972 a freshman hall with Juan "Chico" Sanchez, Mark Rodgman and Earl Hesterberg performed an unheard of feat by taking the title. This team became the legendary Cleveland Indians; and, although they were contenders, they never again were able to take the title.

The 1975 finals pitted two independents, the favored Gozinyas (first name Dick) and the boys from 1 Felta Thi. IFT took the title by beating Gozinya two straight. They were tough, well-played games with Ken Schmader and Kirk Combe leading the way for the Thi's. The Gozinyas were led by two perennial all-IMAC players, Chris Young and Marty "Stick" Williamson.

The spring, of course, featured softball, and the finals had two of the most deviant teams ever assembled on Davidson fields. Both were independent, and both were more concerned with altered states of consciousness than the score. The Cleveland Browns (a relative to the Indians) defeated the Gozinyas in the finals in one of the all-time debauches ever held. It was rumored the Gozinya pitcher DuBose Porter not only didn't know the score but had forgotten the inning and the count as well. The title was decided in six innings of the second game when Greg Dunn delivered a double down the right field line that scored two drunk Browns.

In a way, that game was a fitting end to IMAC for the '75 graduates. The '75 grads had participated in the starting of organized independent teams back in 1971 with the appearance of the Staten Island Fairies and the Kerwood Derbies. Many of these independent organizations have died, the Queen and her 12 Very Nice Guys and the Hoboken Snark to name two. Others have lasted, like the Gozinyas, 1 Felta Thi and the Kerwood Derbies. The Independents have become a viable if not dominating force in IMAC.

The minor sports champions were: Tennis, Old Men; Golf, Phi Delta Theta; Track, Phi Delta Theta; Volleyball, SIF and IFT co-champs.

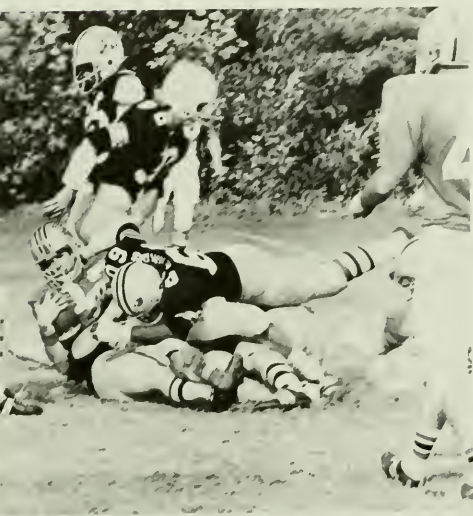

Ably directed by Commissioner Bryan "Bowie" Andrews and his associates Chris Young and Gus Strasburger, the 1974-75 season was an excellent one.

One last note: there is a rumor that a B league exists in IMAC basketball. This is not true.

May you always match.

KAPPA ALPHA

The Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington and Lee University in December of 1865. With the approval of the Order's spiritual founder, Robert E. Lee, Kappa Alpha sought to preserve some of the finer principles and ideals of the old South.

On February 18, 1880, the Sigma Chapter was chartered at Davidson. Within recent years, large pledge classes have swollen the ranks of Southern gentlemen, and the Kappa Alpha Order continues to thrive as one of the oldest, strongest national fraternities at Davidson College.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

With 164,000 brothers strong, Sigma Alpha Epsilon is today the largest Greek letter fraternity in America. The first chapter of the fraternity was founded March 9, 1856, at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, by eight men who had in mind the establishment of a bond which would hold them together long after their college days and which would help themselves and future members live up to the concepts of the "True Gentleman."

After the Civil War, SAE expanded rapidly and on May 20, 1883, a chapter was founded at Davidson by Edwin G. Seibels of Columbia, S.C. Growth continued until SAE reached its present position of prominence in the Greek Letter World, in regard to both leadership and membership. The Chapter at Davidson is known not only for its fantastic social life, exuberant fraternal spirit, and dedicated community service, but also for its wealth of history and heritage.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Phi Gamma Delta is one of the major fraternities at Davidson College. Founded in 1848 at Jefferson College, Pennsylvania, the fraternity was established at Davidson in 1923. It incorporated the Bachelor's Club in that year.

In 1971-72, Delta Kappa chapter moved off campus. It is one of the two off-campus national fraternities at Davidson. Social functions center in the recently constructed chapter house. Fiji's participate in most Davidson varsity sports, student government, and community affairs, making Phi Gamma Delta an important part of Davidson College.

PHI DELTA THETA

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity was founded at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, in 1848, being part of the Miami Triad, the originator of college fraternities. The North Carolina Gamma Chapter of Phi Delta Theta was established on the Davidson Campus in 1928. Since then it has continually congregated within its unique fraternity bonds outstanding men in every phase of student life.

1975 was one of the "better" years for Phi Delta Theta — if there has ever been a bad one. Intramural athletics got off to a great start and continued strong throughout the year. An honorary Phi Delt was founded in Chou Cheng-sung, a sponsored child from the Christian Children Fund. New social activities included beach weekend and spring Atlanta road trip, supplementing the champagne parties and mountain outings.

A total of 26 men were pledged in the spring, and the pledge class continued on to a final initiation ten weeks later. The famed SPE road trip and the inevitable Easter party topped off a fine year for North Carolina Gamma of Phi Delta Theta.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The cardinal principles of Sigma Phi Epsilon are virtue, diligence, and brotherly love. In virtue, we strove toward the ideals set forth by those twelve young men of Richmond College back in 1901. We remembered our own beginnings as the Pyramid Club and our 1930 charter as we welcomed eighteen new brothers into our midst. The 74th member of the Grand Chapter, N.C. Epsilon welcomed the faculty to an afternoon of Sig Ep hospitality at the annual Faculty Barbeque in the spring. We had fun with some new-found friends from Barium Springs at Christmas as well as renewing an old acquaintance with Santa (who looked a lot like Will Terry).

In diligence, we applied our energy toward the achievement of our goals. We finished a new addition to the fraternity house. We saw a need at the Ada Jenkins Community Center and pitched in to help. We never tired at the business of being brothers.

In brotherly love, we wallowed in the mud, strained behind barrels in a barrel roll, partied at the annual Spring Formal with both alumni and actives, endeavored to show our new brothers the meaning and spirit of brotherhood.

We did all of this and yet, in our striving for brotherhood among ourselves, we saw the necessity for brotherhood everywhere.

PAX

This was a year of growth and new faces at PAX. Membership was bolstered by the addition of thirty new members, primarily from the freshman halls of Second Richardson and Third Cannon. Another new touch for the brothers of Rho Alpha Chi was the addition of women into the house. Needless to say the women were welcomed with open arms.

The seniors led this merry band of sophomores and tutored them in the house activities and traditions . . . endless band parties, ice skating parties, Krishna in the basement, Amplexus jamming on the weekends and the Daiquiri Factory, all were regular events.

The year was capped off with the annual steak dinner and awards presentation. The seniors walked off with most of the awards — all well-deserved for their behavior during the year. For them this was the culmination of four years of sustained work in order to reach the level of proficiency to capture their respective titles. (Especially Deak!)

EMANON

Emanon is an eating house founded in 1971 as a result of the closing of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. It was begun by members of the class of 1974 and, when no other name seemed more appropriate, was dubbed "EMANON" or "NO NAME" spelled backwards.

Beloved by all who have partaken there, Emanon is famous for its fine food and hospitable atmosphere. Part of the tradition of Emanon is a strong interhouse feeling of brother-and-sister-hood. This is exemplified in our cookouts, Wednesday night's ice cream hour, and volleyball challenges to ATO.

Women have eaten at Emanon since its inception, and we now have the largest membership of women of any house on the court. While this may not be conducive to rowdiness, it makes the feeling of a "house" more complete. We are very proud of being a "house."

FANNIE & MABLE

In 1972, with the dissolution of the old social system, the Kappa Sigma fraternity lost its charter. But from the remnants of this heroic society, joined merrily by the wandering Betas, there rose a brave, new house. And the Great Gourmet called this group Fannie and Mable, after the two workers who had been preparing culinary delights since before the invention of beef casserole.

This new group dedicated itself to frolicsome merry making and the abolition of academic pressures. Though these goals were not reached immediately, the members nevertheless stoically chugged another beer and forgot about school for a while. And to this day, if you look into this house, those same hedonistic pleasures are still being pursued.

ATO

On a cold dark night in 1972, a mysterious crew slipped into the inner sanctum of the Alpha Tau Omega house, and, after binding the upstairs maid and bribing the gardener, filched the house charter, the paper whose mysterious powers gave the organization its corporate identity. With the charter disappeared the Alpha and the Omega — and mere ATO was loosed upon the world.

Slowly but surely, the awful powers which had been suppressed in the depths of the house's conscience began to creep out of the woodwork. Tree-Frogs cackled in the passageways, and a Big R etched itself into the living-room couch. The great Blain tried to add respectability, but failed gleefully. Towering above all else was the Wizard Magic Dick, whose power brought together the howling hordes into a screeching pandemonium. Milks drank one beer, and behold, everything was suddenly very good. And Kalin didn't know what day it was; he didn't know who Jesus Christ was or what praying was.

Yet the powers did not feed only on themselves — they moved outward. April is the cruellest month, breeding KA pledges out of the south court, and, in response, the magical hordes of ATO suddenly became lemmings. Contending with other houses in their jaded sports proved that it mattered not whether you won or lost but whether it was good for laughs.

Looking on from far away in their corrupted palaces, the denizens of the old court were probably shocked to the marrow of their bone. Yet, while the entity that had been created by the loss of a simple piece of paper was still in its infancy, it had, perhaps, already gone a long way to prove that it is not the Alpha or the Omega that is as important as the journey itself, and that a spirited irreverence leads to new and lasting values.

ETCETERA

In the spring of 1974 a group of rising sophomores were dissatisfied with the existing eating clubs on Patterson Court and were looking for an alternative. Karl Goodhouse and Paul Jennings brought the group together; and a steering committee consisting of Karl, Paul, Carol Yeomans and Gene Broadhead was elected to prepare a proposal through the Dean of Students Office for the formation of a new eating club on Patterson Court. For lack of a name, the club was called House #2 (over other choices which ranged from Hepzibah's Hot House to Sigma Phi Nothing). After acceptance of the proposal, the first officers were elected: Harry Pappas, Pres.; Carol Yeomans, Treas.; and Biff Brantley, House Manager.

That first term (Spring 1974) was spent fixing up the house, planning for the future, etc. and getting to know each other. The name of Etcetera was first proposed in a house meeting that term.

1974-75 proved a difficult year, trying to keep afloat financially despite low membership due to a loss of interest during the previous summer. A constitution in which the name Etcetera was officially approved was written and went through several amendments. Officers elected to serve from 1975-76 were Ken Chadwick, Pres.; Gene Broadhead, Vice-Pres.; Harry Albert, Treas.; and Sam Avery, House Manager.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega was founded at Davidson in 1962. It is a national service fraternity whose purpose is to serve the student body, the faculty, the community, and the nation. Yearly projects include publishing a college directory, providing tours for visitors, ushering at campus events, assisting in registration, operating a used book store. Other services are on an ad hoc basis.

The goal of the North Carolina Fellows Program is to identify college students of exceptional ability and motivation and to encourage their development as potential leaders in the future of the state and the region — in business — in government — in education — in church — and other professional fields. The program provides training and development opportunities rather than scholarship funds.

TRANSFORMATION . . . fall drama production moves from planning and practice to production

DRAMA

For its fall production, the Drama Department presented The Servant of Two Masters, an Italian Renaissance slapstick comedy performed in the style of Commedia del'Arte. Musicians, jugglers, acrobats and puppeteers created a carnival atmosphere before each performance. The actors built a portable stage in full view of the audience, accompanied by fanfare and drum rolls. The play took off in a maddening whirl of activity and never let up.

The winter production was Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, Tom Stoppard's witty play based on the activities of two of the minor characters of Hamlet. Adding to the drama of the play was the sparkling performance by Graham Smith who took over one of the lead roles during dress rehearsal when Hal McCoy had to bow out of the cast with a case of hepatitis.

Beginning in January with the presentation of the Department's first play for children, The Bremen Town Musicians, the Drama Workshop Program came into its own this year with over 90 students involved in 16 performances of 10 studio productions. Among the variety of one-act plays presented were Yeats' At the Hawk's Well, Coward's Hands Across the Sea, Douglas Turner Ward's Happy Ending, Morzek's The Martyrdom of Peter Ohey, and portions of the Wakefield Mystery Cycle.

Anything Goes, the Cole Porter musical of the '30's, was fast, fun and fantastic! With GIRLS, GIRLS, GIRLS, it was obvious that coeducation had arrived on the Davidson campus and was here to stay. The audience couldn't believe its eyes and ears when the tap dancing started to the sounds of a sophisticated jazz band in "the pit." With revolving stages, five lavish settings and a cast of 35, this spring production was the most elaborate musical ever staged at Davidson in the history of the Drama Department!

ARTIST SERIES

The Artist Series presented five varied and entertaining programs for the 1974-75 season. Following up on the excitement and interest resulting from Marcel Marceau's appearance in the spring of 1974, the Series opened with the Claude Kipnis Mime Theatre on October 18. During Winter term, Morton Subotnick (below, left) presented a program of original works for light and sound on February 11, oboist Pierre W. Feit performed with the Slovenian String Trio on February 14, and William Windom (below, right) presented an imaginative characterization of James Thurber and some of the Thurber characters on February 20. The Series' final presentation was the riotous, irreverent Intimate P.D.Q. Bach featuring Professor Peter Schickele and the Semi-Pro Musica Antiqua on March 11.

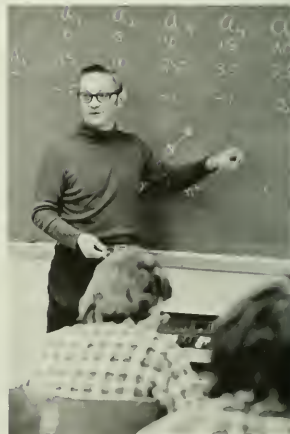

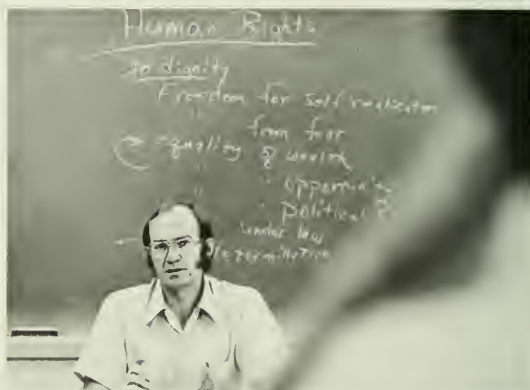

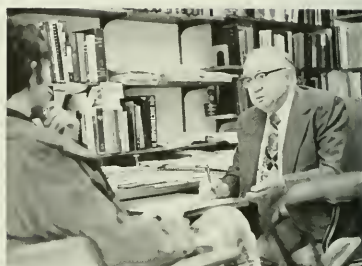

COLLEGE UNION

Still in its "temporary" headquarters, the College Union continued to be hampered by space problems yet found ways to sponsor a variety of entertainments. In addition to major weekends and featured speakers, the programming included a performance in Love Auditorium of the forceful Broadway play, "The River Niger" (lower left). Madeline Brown (lower right) was a highlight of the Coffee House circuit appearing in the Rathskeller. Frank Speiser (below) brought to campus a very realistic portrayal of the late Lenny Bruce.

IN CLOSING . . .

A personal postscript:

Twelve years ago I was wishing for just this sort of opportunity—the chance to edit a second yearbook, having just finished edition 67. And so it came in September '75, only 10 years later. And, like everything else, things have changed.

I do not wish my comments to be so much an apology as an explanation of what has proceeded. They are to help explain why the outlook of this volume is not totally student-oriented, why pictures or groups or clubs have seemingly been omitted, why others have been over-exposed.

After being appointed editor in September '75, I spent the fall months planning what I would like to do. When the former editor finally released in January '76 the materials which he had been collecting and working on, I began to see what could and could not realistically be done. The materials which I received were a partially laid-out sports section with pictures to match, a class section with underclass formal portraits, some miscellaneous pictures and an assortment of senior informals. From that, the annual began again.

By the time a new layout could be made (and then reduced in size by 20% because no additional income was available through advertising), it was May '76. The staff worked diligently to get pictures and copy while members of the Class of '76 were available.

Much of the work, however, remained to be done by members of the two underclasses from the '74 —'75 year along with students who were not here at all when the year's events transpired.

My special thanks to Alice Rogers '76 and Doris Phillips '78 whose work and enthusiasm kept the project above water. Also to Sue McAvoy '77 and Robbie Hutchinson '77 who had met most of their original deadlines such that a lot of copy and pictures were available for the sports section.

The publication of this book was also made possible through the diligent assistance of two members of the Alumni Office Staff who slipped in copy typing between letters and memos, checked records and proofed copy. They are Mrs. Herbert (Nancy) Blackwell and Mrs. Donald (Frances) Howie.

At Delmar I have been most ably assisted by Mr. Ralph Van Dyke whose own skills and expertise gave me the confidence and encouragement to continue when nothing else seemed to be going right.

I am also indebted to many unnamed students who did their bit to help get this book together. Sometimes the action was slow (must it really take 9 months to get write ups and pictures for the fraternities and eating clubs) and sometimes in vain (no pictures available anywhere of most of the activities during the three major social weekends), but they tried.

And then there were the promises with no follow-up. These were perhaps the major disappointments of working on the book. But since I was doing what I was doing all because of an unfulfilled promise, I guess I shouldn't have been surprised.

As I said 12 years ago, there are still a lot of you out there doing nothing with your age-old "don't give a damn" attitude. Please, get with it and give a damn. This opportunity called College comes but once. Good luck and God speed.
